Hello to all,

Greetings from rain-soaked Cuba, forget the advice that it never rains down here, Isidore left us with several inches of rain over the last 2 days. What a difference from the typically hot and steamy days/nights. Clothing-wise, as previously noted, short-sleeved knit shirts, cargo pants, boots are the usual dress, plus shorts, tee shirts, work-out clothes for other times. Also, hats are a must for us folkie-challenged individuals.

[Redacted] arrived on Thursday as [Redacted] departed. We are now firmly entrenched in the BAU living quarters, a 2 bedroom apartment with a full kitchen. Spartan-like with no rugs, curtains, etc., but comfortable enough with a nice TV/VCR, etc. Someone does need to follow up on the male/female living quarters as I had to stay in the Bachelor Quarters prior to [Redacted] leaving. That's a pain because of its location away from everything else. b6 -1 b7C -1

Every day is extremely similar as you do the same things with the same people at the same times. Time is spent observing interviews at Delta (as early as 6:00 a.m.) and providing input, if requested. The process is something to experience. We have had one 'formal' consultation with a DHS interrogator where we reviewed a file and discussed specific observations/suggestions. Essentially, you are always on duty and people ask you questions or just want to talk about a detainee interview at all times of the day or night. We continue to meet with the military personnel tasked with scheduling issues which is quite an ordeal considering space management, linguists, etc. We also had a long conversation with an Army SSgt who is in charge of MP Intelligence liaison.

My plaudits again to [Redacted] and [Redacted] for setting this entire "mission" in motion, they did a great job of networking the BAU into the mainstream. Any questions that you may have, I'm sure they could answer. Additionally, just e-mail [Redacted] or I with any issues/questions you may have. Well, gotta go to a meeting. b6 -1 b7C -1

All the best,
